It’s a great way to get connected with our department and other undergraduate students interested in psychology. All are welcome to join us! Pronunciation of Psi Chi: “Psi” = exactly sounds like “Sigh”, then “Kie – like “kite” without the “t”. Sigh Kite. Sigh Kie. Psi Chi! Yay! Any student can be a part of our group, but those that also meet the requirements to join the Psi Chi National Honor Society will apply to join the honors society – you will receive more information about this at the first meeting!

What medical and dental schools look for in their applicants is not a secret; however most students have difficulty sorting through and prioritizing all of “advice” they are given. This presentation will help you decipher what medical and dental schools really want and the importance of all of those prerequisite requirements. This is an overview of pre-med/pre-dental advising at MU and covers all of the basic information about how to determine if medicine/dentistry is right for you and how to pursue this path at MU. All students must attend an orientation session before meeting with a Medopp advisor or attending a Freshmen Connection session later in the semester.
You can find a lot of helpful information here:  http://premed.missouri.edu/

7) Attend the next DISTINGUISHED LECTURE SERIES IN PSYCHOLOGY (Thurs 9/17 from 3:30 to 5pm in Jesse Wrench Auditorium -- S107 Memorial Union)
All are welcome to attend this FREE lecture! Hear Dr. Richard J. McNally, Professor and Director of Clinical Training in the Department of Psychology at Harvard University, present “Why do (some) people believe they have been abducted by space aliens or have recovered memories from a past life?”
Dr. McNally received his B.S. in psychology from Wayne State University in 1976, and his Ph.D. in clinical psychology from the University of Illinois at Chicago in 1982. He has over 380 publications, most concerning anxiety disorders, including the books Panic Disorder: A Critical Analysis, Remembering Trauma, and What is Mental Illness? He served on the American Psychiatric Association’s DSM-IV PTSD and specific phobia committees. He is a Fellow of the Association for Psychological Science, winner of the 2005 Distinguished Scientist Award from the Society for the Science of Clinical Psychology, and the winner of the 2010 Outstanding Mentor Award from the Association for Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies. He is on the Institute for Scientific Information’s “Highly Cited” list for psychology and psychiatry [top 0.5% of authors worldwide in terms of citation impact]. Abstract: In this talk, Dr. McNally will describe a series of studies examining why seemingly sincere, nonpsychotic people claim to have memories of being abducted by space aliens or memories from past lives. Using methods from cognitive psychology and psychophysiology, and supplementing them with psychiatric interviews and psychometric tests, he will elucidate the psychology of these two groups, contrasting them, respectively, with subjects who deny a history of alien abduction and who affirm having had only one life (i.e., their current one). His data point to quasi-spiritual motivations for embracing the identity of space alien abductee or past lifer.
