Interested in gaining research experience?
Join the Attitude and Decision Making Lab!

What do we study?

1) When, how and to what advantage people use spontaneous associations and “gut feelings” in judgment
2) Reasoning ability and how to overcome intuitive bias
3) Factors that impact how people make life-altering medical decisions
4) Beliefs and lay-theories about the factors that impact our judgments and decisions
The AADM Lab cannot run without the help of dedicated, enthusiastic students. Getting involved in a research lab is a great way to get experience and explore your interests. If you are interested in volunteering in the lab, or becoming involved and earning course credit, please contact Dr. Laura Scherer at schererl@missouri.edu.
